FROM TAKE-AWAYS TO DELIVER-EASE

The ever changing set of restrictions announced by the various governments in the UK will have impacted your venue's capacity, caused a dip in consumer confidence and meant that you have had to look at other solutions to bolster your revenue. Takeaway and delivery continue to provide a way to help drive turnover, increase customer reach and supplement the number of diners per service.

We know that what you serve may not change, but how you get it to your customers will. From packaging solutions to disposable tableware as well as specific food solutions to ensure that your food gets to your customers in the best condition whether at your table or theirs.

There is no denying that the hospitality industry is changing as we move through this global pandemic. The changing rules on out of home socialising are having an impact on consumer confidence, with older consumers more effected by the changes

However, the next wave of take away customers looking to engage with takeaway and delivery fall into a similar category, so this represents an opportunity to gain a new takeaway customers with the right offer.

CHEFS' TIPS

Do not serve your entire menu. Offer a few select customer favourites that are simple to prepare

Minimal garnish on takeaway foods keep it simple and cost effective

Ensure your select dishes from your menu that will travel well

Delivery radius maximum to ensure your dishes are as good as they can be... 12 minutes or 3-5 miles

Promote top ten high margin and selling menu items from each section (starters – mains & puds)

Staggered collection time to keep customers safe during Covid-19

Consider offers to encourage loyalty and repeat orders i.e. '20%-off between 6-9pm Mon to Thur' or '2 meals for £15'

Minimal spend for delivered menu items i.e. (minimum of 2-3 items or ££ per order)

Pre heat hot box with hot water bottle, chill box with ice block. Remove when food is ready to go

Make your team Covid-19 safe. Offer suitable training and PPE while using contactless payment where possible
